

BANKERS IN BIG TROUBLE.

The Penn Bank, of Pittsburgh, Forced to Suspend a Second Time.

Its President Unconscious From an Overdose of Morphine.

President Fish, of the Marine Bank, Held to Bail in $30,000—Young Ward in Jail.

The Comptroller on the Unfavorable Bank Statement.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 26.—The Penn bank closed its doors again at 12 o'clock to-day and posted the following notice on the door:

Mr. Riddle, the president and chief executive officer of the bank, having become suddenly and seriously ill, and unable to communicate with the board of directors, it is deemed proper to close the bank under existing circumstances, until he recovers sufficient to be present at an adjournment of its affairs.

By order of the board.

This announcement created as much excitement as the first suspension, and a large crowd very quickly assembled, filling the sidewalks and surrounding the building. Many excited depositors demanded to know the cause of the trouble, but got no satisfaction. Officers were placed in charge who would say nothing, and would permit nobody to see any one connected with the bank or who was supposed to know anything about its condition.

President Riddle, who was sick when the bank first suspended, and who rose from his sick bed to "face the music," as he said, was back at 10 o'clock this morning, but half an hour later was taken violently ill and was removed to the Duquesne club, where he remained until late in the day. It was given out that he had been attacked by his old difficulty—hemorrhage of the lungs—and that he had had two successive hemorrhages during the afternoon. Later it was learned that he had taken an overdose of morphine or chloroform, and that physicians were endeavoring to restore him to consciousness, with but slight hope of success. This statement only increased the alarm, and many excited depositors demanded to know the cause of the trouble, but got no satisfaction. Officers were placed in charge who would say nothing, and would permit nobody to see any one connected with the bank or who was supposed to know anything about its condition.

When it was discovered that President Riddle, of the Pennsylvania bank, had taken a narcotic, great excitement was created, and the Duquesne club building, where he had been taken, was besieged by anxious inquirers after his condition. The stomach pump was brought into requisition, and this evening the patient recovered consciousness. It was learned that he had been attacked with a severe pain this morning, and had taken an overdose.

All sorts of rumors are afloat. One is a renewal of the report that the bank lost heavily in oil speculation, and another that there has been a heavy defalcation, and that the doors were opened to allow certain depositors to withdraw their deposits. Bank officers are generally dumfounded by the rumors, and say that they are entirely ignorant of the cause of the suspension.

Mr. Fish Gives Bail.

NEW YORK, May 26.—John D. Fish, the son of President Fish, of the Marine National bank, and David Hirsch, the large tobacco manufacturer, went to Commissioner Shields' office to-day, where it was understood that Mr. Hirsch was to go bail for President Fish. Many people were in the office to hear the proceedings, but up to 12:30 p. m. President Fish did not arrive. There were various rumors afloat as to the cause of the delay. One was that the bail was to be fixed at a large amount, and that Mr. Fish would not appear until bondsmen were secured. Mr. Hirsch said, in conversation, that he had offered to go on Mr. Fish's bond because he considered him to be a man who needed and deserved help. Mr. Hirsch's firm was a depositor in the Marine bank, and he had been a member of the bank for many years as a whole-souled, honorable gentleman. He did not believe that he had been guilty of any criminal intent. He was with Mr. Fish when the latter was arrested last night in his room. Some friends were there, and he saw that Mr. Fish was in custody, they were disposed to raise the issue that he could not be arrested in his own rooms on Sunday. The chief deputy marshal, however, told them that once the proceedings were started, a criminal nature must be ascertained, and that this trouble has befallen him," said Mr. Hirsch. "Mr. Fish has not tried to run away or hide from the authorities. He is not anxious to be barred out. John D. Fish, W. Charles Fish, and several other sons of Mr. Fish, sons and Mr. Street, son-in-law, of Mr. Fish, were present at the time of the arrest. Shortly before 1 o'clock Mr. Fish was brought to the marshal's office, when a short consultation took place. From there he was conducted to the court, where he was accompanied by his counsel. He seemed entirely self-possessed. Commissioner Shields said: "Mr. Fish, you are charged with a violation of the United States statute, in unlawfully misappropriating the funds of the bank, certain moneys belonging to United States bank. This is a criminal charge. Do you appear by counsel?"

Mr. Fish pointed to his counsel, who said: "We plead not guilty," and then asked the district attorney what bail he had for Mr. Fish. Root replied that the Lawrence case was the nearest case to this, and in that the district attorney asked for $50,000.

He would ask for the same amount.

Mr. Fish's counsel said that his client had made over every dollar that he had for the benefit of the bank, and that everybody knew that he had not personally profited by any of the money he was charged with misappropriation. Counsel thought that $15,000 or $20,000 would be ample security. Commissioner Shields said he was familiar with the facts in the case, and he would fix the bail at $20,000. Therefore the prisoner was taken to the marshal's office, where he remained until the bondsmen qualified.

The bondsmen of James D. Fish appeared before Commissioner Shields at 4 o'clock this afternoon and qualified in the following amounts: James E. Ward, of Ward & Co., Havana Steamship company, $15,000; Francis C. Reed, lawyer, $7,500; and David Hirsch, tobacco dealer, $7,500.

Mr. Fish then took his departure, accompanied by his friends.

Before he left the building Fish was shown a statement published in one of the evening papers purporting to be denied by Gen. Grant concerning the authorship of the letters which Mr. Fish said the general had written him. Mr. Fish said that he did not believe Gen. Grant had denied having written the letters in question, as he (Fish) had had them in his possession. He would, however, refuse for the present to make them public except as to their general scope, which he had already disclosed.

Young Grant's Partner Examined.

NEW YORK, May 26.—Stephen P. Moriarty, a partner of Jesse Grant, was in the court of common pleas to-day to submit to an examination in supplementary proceedings in the suit brought against him by H. H. Remington, who claims that he had been defrauded by Grant upon a $5,000 note. Nothing of importance was elicited, and the case was further adjourned. It is thought that efforts will be made to settle up the claim before the case comes into court again.

Ward's Day in Jail.

NEW YORK, May 26.—Ferdinand Ward was closed with his lawyer to-day preparing his defense. His wife and brother-in-law called on him during the day. He was expecting the arrival of James B. Fish at every ring of the door bell, but up to 2:30 o'clock that gentleman had not made his appearance at Ludlow street jail.

Wall Street's Hopes and Fears.

NEW YORK, May 26.—None of the suspended Wall street firms have as yet completed their statements as to how they stand. Gen. Thomas, the president of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Midland railroad, arrived in Wall street to-day from abroad. His appearance has inspired the holders of the first consolidated bonds with a hope that he will be able to make arrangements for the payment of interest on the coupons. The feeling expressed on the street as to the arrest of Mr. Fish seems to be that it was to be expected.

The New York Bank Statement.

The New York bank statement for the week ending Saturday, May 24, showed a decrease in the reserve of $774,150, which is a reduction of $8,977,135 below the reserve required by law. Yesterday Comptroller of the Currency Cannon was asked what he intended to do about it.

Mr. Cannon said: "Owing to the fact that the clearing house association of New York is made up of state as well as national banks, and that the weekly statement is a statement of averages, I do not consider the figures sufficiently valuable to take any action. The examiners in New York are watching matters very closely, and report the national banks in good condition."

A CRISIS APPROACHING.

The Trouble in New Iberia, Parish, La., Likely to End in Serious Disturbance.

NEW IBERIA, La., May 26.—A crisis is fast approaching. The outlook is ominous. A number of Fontenelle's adherents have been marching about the streets at night shouting for their leader, singing "We'll hang Judge Gates on a sour apple tree," and firing in the air. Women and children have been terrorized, and the only subject discussed is the trial of the case.

Fontenelle's adherents maintain an armed garrison at night in the court house, and during the day a large number of his supporters are in its immediate neighborhood. Judge Gates, supported by the merchants and the police, is also prepared for a struggle. His party have established their arsenal about two squares from the court house. They have organized a body of men, who are well armed, and a militia company has also been formed and is ready at a moment's call. Thus it is seen that both sides are armed and prepared. Such a situation cannot last more than a day or two.

As soon as the new sheriff's bond has been approved he will make a formal demand for his office. The present incumbent says that he will accept the bond, but as Clerk Segura is friendly to Fontenelle it is not likely he will accept it. If the demands are met by refusal it is stated that force will be used at once. A number of men and party in town, and hostilities may commence at any moment. Judge Fontenelle stated to-day that no matter what might come Judge Gates would never provide over the court here. He said that, even if the militia were sent, it would be a hot one, as the excitement is very great, and there is bad blood on both sides.

Later—Sheriff-elect Veazey presented his bond to the deputy clerk of the court; the clerk accepted the bond, and the court adjourned. The deputy clerk presented the bond to the court, and the court adjourned. The deputy clerk presented the bond to the court, and the court adjourned.

A FRIGHTFUL TRAGEDY.

An Ex-Convict and Formerly a Politician Under the Tweed Ring Kills His Wife, Stabs His Sister-in-Law, and Then Attempts to Commit Suicide.

NEW YORK, May 26.—John Carpenter, an ex-convict, murdered his wife in Michael Sweeney's saloon, No. 353 Third street, to-day afternoon. He at first dangerously and perhaps fatally wounded his sister-in-law, Delia Ambrose, and then stabbed himself several times in the abdomen. He has slight chances of recovery. Carpenter is an Irishman, who was a politician of note during the reign of Boss Tweed. Several years ago he was convicted of a crime, and served a term in prison. He was released, and came to New York, where he was employed by Michael Sweeney. He was known to Sweeney as a politician, and was trusted by him. He was known to Sweeney as a politician, and was trusted by him.

A Statue of Calvin for Washington.

SARATOGA, N. Y., May 26.—In the Probytorian general assembly to-day resolutions relative to the action of the southern assembly in discontinuing correspondence by delegates were discussed at great length, and finally tabled. The committee submitted their final report and were discharged, and letters of a Christian and fraternal character from the Methodist general conference were read, and a responsive letter was sent. Tonight the various synodical committees submitted reports relative to urging aid for the New Peres Indians, which were adopted.

Resolutions were adopted favoring personal contributions for the proposed John Calvin statue to be unveiled at Washington city in 1885.

Return of the Twenty-Eighth New York.

FORTRESS MONROE, Va., May 26.—Members of the old 28th New York regiment and their friends, numbering about 300 ex-soldiers, arrived here to-day from Richmond on route for home. They speak in the words of the terms of the great welcome extended to them during the trip.

They were met by Lieuts. Burwell, Parker, and Ball, from the naval academy. On alighting the President, members of the cabinet, Gen. Sheridan, Admiral Porter, and others were given carriage and driven to the academy, where the greater portion of the visitors, owing to the small supply of living accommodations in the "ancient city" were compelled to march on foot to the academy grounds. Lieuts. Burwell, Parker, and Ball, leading the party through the city to the middle gate of the grounds, where the officers of the academy were grouped to receive the President, to the number of half a hundred, resplendent in their full dress uniforms.

As the President alighted from his carriage in front of the library he was greeted by Capt. Ramsey with a most cordial handshake. All the officers, including the professors, of the academy were present to pay respects. The ceremony of introduction was dispensed with, and the President and party, followed by the officers, proceeded to the main avenue. The band struck up a lively air, the marines presented arms in double file, and the Sante in the distance thundered its welcome of great guns to the chief magistrate. Although the rain was falling the presidential party was followed by the spectators up to the parade ground, where the band and the Sante, under Ensign W. F. Fullam, were ordered to receive the President. The President, with his cabinet officers, Capt. Ramsey, and Commander Huntington, and Gen. Sheridan, stood out and took for some time the gentle rain, the Sante firing a salute, and the band playing a march. The President and party, followed by the officers, proceeded to the main avenue. BASE-BALL.

Contests in the City This Week—Yesterday's Games Elsewhere.

The Washingtons have returned from their eastern trip, and begin a series of games at Athletic club this afternoon. Their contest to-day and to-morrow will be the strong Louisville club. Two games will be played on Decoration day. At 10 o'clock the Washingtons will engage with the Columbus nine, and at 3 o'clock in the afternoon with the Cincinnati club. Another game with the Cincinnati will be played at the usual hour on Saturday afternoon.

The 10-cent contest, which Mr. Moxley fixed yesterday for the boys under 15 years of age "still runs" for these ball games. Manager Hollingshead has disposed of three of the weakest men in the nine, and it is three new ones who will play to-day. They are Hanna, Culcher, and Prince, first baseman.

Joe Gerhardt, who will play with the Louisville, and Charles Snyder, with the Cincinnati, are both Washington boys.
